

Alice jumped from snow pile to snow pile, yelling, "Christmas, Christmas! I love Christmas!" as white mist puffed up around her. "Papa, can you hardly wait to play with all our toys tomorrow? I hope you were as good as I was this year."

Papa laughed. "I wasn't nearly that good."

